Toxicology and Clinical Pharmacology of Herbal Products Melanie Johns Cupp,2000-02-03 The herbal medicine industry is growing at an astounding rate. Trade group estimates suggest that total sales exceeded $4 billion dollars in 1999. Herbal remedies are for sale not just in health food stores, but in supermarkets, drug stores, and even discount warehouses. Along with the proliferation in sales has come a proliferation of information sources. Not all of the sources are equally reliable, or even intelligible. Traditional herbalists classify thistle and mugwort as cholagogues, substances used to make the gallbladder contract and release bile. Medical school graduates are unlikely to have ever heard the term, or even accept the notion that most right-sided abdominal pain is a result of diminished bile flow. Heroin and cocaine may not be the only drugs to come from plants, but a practicing physician or toxicologist might be forgiven for thinking so. In 1998, 1264 papers were published about cocaine and only 17 about kava kava, an abused herb that is not without toxic side effects. Unfortunately, the majority of the papers about kava kava were published in journals not found in ordinary hospital libraries. In recognition of this fact, and of the obvious need for a reliable reference work on herbal toxicology, The Toxicology and Clinical Pharmacology of Herbal Products was an early addition to our new series in Forensic Science and Medicine. It is very badly needed.
